For the last few months she had been somewhat ill, and when attacked with pneumonia fell an easy victim to the dread disease, being ill but four days. Mrs.Robinson was born and reared in this village, the daughter of the late Gilbert Ellis. She married J. Barney Robinson, who died in a few years, leaving one son, Homer. Mrs. Robinson had many friends, and the news of her death cast a gloom over the whole community. She leaves one child, a son of 19 years, who is sadly bereft; one brother in Boston, Jack P. Ellis, and a brother in New York, Harley, and many friends of less kinship. The remains were carried to T. W. Drew's, where a funeral was held on Friday, Rev. H. W. Worthen officiating.
